"SAVED MY LIFE"

—That's what a prominent druggist said of Scott's Emulsion a short time ago. As a rule we don't use or refer to testimonials in addressing the public, but the above remark and similar expressions are made so often in connection with Scott's Emulsion that they are worthy of occasional note. From infancy to old age Scott's Emulsion offers a reliable means of remedying improper and weak development, restoring lost flesh and vitality, and repairing waste. The action of Scott's Emulsion is no more of a secret than the composition of the Emulsion itself. What it does it does through nourishment—the kind of nourishment that cannot be obtained in ordinary food. No system is too weak or delicate to retain Scott's Emulsion and gather good from it.

We will send you a sample free.

Remember that this picture in the form of a label is on the wrapper of every bottle of Emulsion you buy.

STATEHOOD BILL HUNG UP NO HOPE FOR COMPROMISE

From Monday's Daily.

Dispatches from Washington today show the statehood bill to be hung up. The insurgents and the administration are still fighting each other and there is no telling the outcome.

There are rumors of a compromise, but no understanding has been reached. While the feeling is growing better, yet there is but little hope of an agreement.

The insurgents claim there is no sign of weakening and express confidence of success, while Speaker Cannon feels certain that the insurgents will yet come across.

There is a doubt as to whether the insurgents have enough votes to defeat the rule which is prepared to defeat the amendments to that measure and it is contended the insurgents will grow weaker instead of stronger.

Speaker Cannon and Representative Babcock, leader of the insurgents, have held an interesting meeting, out of which several interesting stories are in circulation, some of a sensational character which would indicate a serious breach between the two gentlemen.

Under present conditions the consideration of the Hamilton bill is out of the question.

The administration is still firm in insisting on the passage of the joint statehood bill without modification. Compromise measures are no longer under consideration by the insurgents, and statehood legislation seems at a deadlock at present.

As to the statehood bill, it is not apt to be passed soon. Statehood will not be given to Arizona and New Mexico at this session—unless the House should be whipped into doing so. Then the Senate will refuse and Oklahoma and Indian Territory will get the boon they ask for after a fight. Few men believe that the Republicans have the effrontery to withhold it longer, but if they should have, the friends of these Territories in the Senate will undoubtedly resort to desperate measures, such, for example, as tacking a statehood rider onto an appropriation bill.

It will occasion no surprise among the initiated if the Senate committee should report a bill providing statehood for Oklahoma and Indian Territory and leaving the admission of Arizona and New Mexico to a decision of the people of these territories.

GIVE TEDDY UNIQUE GIFT

Advocates of Game Preserve Present
Roosevelt With Stick Pin.

Washington, Jan. 13.—Col. J. W. Burgoyne and Jack Gordon were introduced to the president today by Col. Cecil Lyons of Texas, and they presented to him a unique stick pin—a bear standing upright, fastened in gold, and between his forepaws he holds a pearl. The pearl was found in the Chocotaw nation. During their visit Col. Burgoyne and Mr. Gordon took occasion to speak to the president concerning their effort to establish a game preserve in the Chocotaw nation, and he assured them of his sympathy. The legislation needed for the success of this enterprise is included in the Curtis bill, and there is little doubt, therefore, that it will be put through.

Christian science throws up its job when it tackles a simple case of colic.

STATEHOOD BILL IS BETWEEN RAGING AND ROARING FIRES

Dispatches from Washington today show the statehood bill to be directly between two raging and roaring fires—the administration and the insurgents—and is in danger of being scorched—defeated.

Speaker Cannon and the house leaders say that as the members now stand, the omnibus bill is beaten.

Cannon has set up a Macedonian cry and wants the insurgents to climb from off the stubborn bench.

Cannon has not given up the fight. He says he will get a majority for the statehood bill.

President Roosevelt has taken a hand in the fight and is endeavoring to bring the insurgents into line. The President sent for a number of the insurgents and told them, with much emphasis, that they must cease their rebellion.

The President has the Missouri rebels before him in a bunch and lectured them roundly on the sin of party disloyalty.

Much of the rebellion is due to discontent among Republican

WILL OPPOSE CURTIS BILL

But Attack Will Not Be Made Until
It Reaches Senate.

Washington, January 13.—The Curtis bill providing for the closing of the affairs of the Five Tribes will meet with strong opposition in the senate. The measure is highly objectionable to the tribes in several respects, but they will wait until it shall have reached the senate to begin their fight on it, and they have already received assurance of support in that body. It will be put through that body with dispatch.

Debate will be limited, but it is now the purpose to allow the house to have some opportunity to amend it.

Will Be Accepted From the Hands of Miss Nye.

Austin, Jan. 16.—As a result of the conference between former State Senator J. B. Dibrell of Seguin and Governor Lanham, an agreement was reached whereby the Albert Sydney Johnston monument will be finally accepted from Miss Elizabeth Nye, a sculptress. There had been a heated contest over this monument and it had been once rejected by the monument committee. Senator Dibrell is a member of the committee. The monument cost $10,000.

The railroad commission approved the agreement between the St. Louis, Brownsville and Mexico, and San Antonio and Aransas Pass railways for a series of grade crossings where these two roads cross each other.

The supreme court overruled the motion for a rehearing in the case of the International and Great Northern railway against the railroad commission. This is the case wherein the commission ordered an overhead crossing where the international crosses the Katy. The international enjoined the commission, but the supreme court sustained the commission.

The governor appointed John E. Mitchell of Washington, D. C., Texas commissioner of deeds for the District of Columbia.

Burbanks was convicted of deserting his Filipino wife, who some time ago was granted a divorce and alimony.

Favorable to Both.

Washington, Jan. 16.—The senate committee on judiciary agreed to report favorably the nominations of George W. Atkinson of West Virginia to be judge of the United States court of claims, and Newman F. Parker to be United States district judge for the Northern district of Indian Territory. Some opposition to both the nominations were made, and they have been held up for some weeks.

Profitable Porkers.

Mineral Wells, Jan. 16.—Two farmers, Austin and Sims, who reside in the north part of the city, killed two hogs from which they rendered 340 pounds of lard. The porkers were scarcely fifteen months old, but were very fat, and turned out an unusually large amount of lard.
